

SILICON VALLEY CHAPTER EVENT

SPEAKER

Sean Randolph

President & CEO of the Bay Area Economic Forum

"Offshoring and the Changing Structure of the Bay Area Economy"

While corporate sales and revenues in the Bay Area have largely recovered from the recent technology recession, jobs have not. Technology, competition and a changing global environment are posing new challenges for the region, leading to important structural changes. Dr. Sean Randolph, President & CEO of the Bay Area Economic Forum, will discuss the state of the Bay Area's economy as it begins 2005, and how it is both leading and being changed by new global forces. His presentation will assess the implications for the Bay Area's job market, major economic challenges, and the most likely sources of future economic growth.

Speaker Biography

R. SEAN RANDOLPH
President & CEO
Bay Area Economic Forum

Sean Randolph was appointed President & CEO of the Bay Area Economic Forum on June 1, 1998. The Bay Area Economic Forum, a CEO-level public-private organization of business, government, university, labor and community leaders works to foster a competitive economic environment in the San Francisco Bay region, including San Francisco, Oakland and the Silicon Valley. The Economic Forum produces analytical reports on key economic and policy issues impacting the California and Bay Area economies, including transportation, housing, energy, water, scientific research and development, international trade and state and local governance, and mobilizes community leadership around targeted policy initiatives.

Dr. Randolph previously served as director of international trade for the State of California, where he developed trade strategy and directed international business programs to stimulate exports and introduce California companies to overseas markets.

Before service with the state, Dr. Randolph was Managing Director of the RSR Pacific Group, an international business consulting firm specializing in Asia and Latin America. From 1988–92 he served as International Director General of the Pacific Basin Economic Council, a 15-nation, CEO-level international organization of leading U.S., Asian and Latin American corporations.

His professional career also includes extensive experience in the U.S. Government, including the U.S. Congress staff (1976- 80), and the White House staff (1980–81). He served in the U.S. State Department on the Policy Planning Staff, as Special Adviser for Policy in the Bureau of East Asian and Pacific Affairs, and as Deputy/Ambassador-at Large for Pacific Basin affairs (1981–85). From 1985–88 he also served in the U.S. Department of Energy as Deputy Assistant Secretary for International Affairs, where he managed non-proliferation, collaborative research, producer-consumer, energy security and global oil and gas issues.

Dr. Randolph holds a JD from the Georgetown University Law Center, a Ph.D. from the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, a B.S.F.S. from Georgetown's School of Foreign Service, and studied at the London School of Economics. He is a member of the District of Columbia Bar Association, the International Institute for Strategic Studies, the Council on Foreign Relations, and the Pacific Council on International Policy, and currently serves on the Board of Directors of the U.S. National Committee for Pacific Economic Cooperation, the Pan American Society of California, the Bay Area World Trade Center, the University of San Francisco Center for the Pacific Rim, the Southwest Center of Environmental Research and Policy, and the Headlands Institute.

Dr. Randolph speaks frequently before business and government audiences, and writes for U.S. and international media on global, national, state and regional economic and policy issues.
